

Bank's Parking Plans Run into Another Snag

The first Arlington National Bank's parking problem has been solved. Village or downtown stipulates that new and expanded building must provide parking spaces.

Wednesday the bank asked the Planning Commission to approve a plan for 100 parking spaces on S. Arlington Rd. 25 S. Salem, it is to be used to meet parking requirements for the bank.

ATTOREY R. A. Francis told the commission that the bank wants to use the lots on the south side of the bank to meet village requirements rather than a north side lot that the planning board stated for the bank.

Several of the members of the commission have been denied.

Commission Chairman Harry Carl asked asked Francis to clarify the situation.

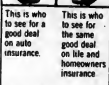

"What are you talking about," Commissioner Charles Calkins asked.

Bank Vice President Douglas Duda looked puzzled. "This was referred to by the zoning board of appeals. All you have to do is approve it," he said.

CALSON said he had not been presented with anything showing the referral.

"If this proposal only goes to an advisory it's not going to pass," he said.

"Someone has to present what you want. You attorneys don't do it," he told Duda. "We can't do anything with this. We are presented to."

This is who to see for a good deal on life and homeowners insurance.

See him now!

New Furnishings on Display

BY MARILYN HELPFERS
Women's Editor

The Home Furnishing Market offers something for everyone — vivid colors and wild prints for the "modernist"; Early English, Jacobean and French furniture for the traditionalist; and a highly "improbable" cast aluminum Chippendale chair for the metallurgist.

As the bustle and bustle of buyers at the market came to its end the housemaster can prepare to use these new products in the more than 10,000 seating rooms at the Merchandise Mart.

The 1967 tour program begins today. Thirteen tours, one every half-hour, are conducted by trained guides. The charge is 50 cents per person, to charge for children under 12 accompanied by an adult.

Accent chairs by Conover Chair Co. are hand-glazed in "A Guide to Color" — blue, red, daffodil, with wild coordinated upholstery.

Detroit's new collection for modernists is designed for its versatility. A drop-laf table is reupholstered that folds

An aluminum copy of Thomas Chippendale's famous chair was created by ALCOA for the Home Furnishings Market. The gown is a paper-aluminum foil laminate.

Some Day

The tollway system is going ahead with its plan announced in this space early weeks ago to widen the northwest toll road by another lane. This program is being planned without consideration for new ramp needed at Arlington Heights Rd.

The people in 8th Grade, Rolling Meadows and Arlington Heights who might use the tollway if they try to go to it are not that important to the commission. Instead, the objective is to move more traffic quicker through the very suburbs that are growing the fastest.

If you were a state official, this would make sense to you. If you drive, it won't. The tollway people are not going to reduce the 35-cent toll, either. Despite the fact that things are considerably higher financially than a few years back. This policy has some much appeal and keeps the tollroad and pool people off the better highways.

Some day the tollways are supposed to become public highways. By that time Arlington Heights should have around 100,000 citizens. The least the tollway commission could do in recognition of this phenomenal growth is erect a plaque where the tollway ramp will not be constructed. It would be in the same category as not naming high schools after superintendents who serve long and meritoriously.

There is the building department that takes 100 people with incomes ranging from $12,000 to $50,000 a year. The homeowner is responsible only for maintaining the interior and patio areas of the house. Everything else, from lawn mowing to fixing the roof, is accounted for in a monthly service charge.

But before all the harried mothers and fathers rush to this house on Earth here is one catch. No children under 13 are permitted to live in the subdivision.

That narrows it down a bit, but you will be glad to know that children and grandchildren are permitted to visit at any time. Something like that kind of restriction you find in democracy.

"I just want to say that I saw your TV ad, tried your mouthwash and..."

Well-Deserved Salute

The Jaycees are a funny group. They limit their membership to men 21 to 35 years of age.

They do it for a purpose. The Jaycee organization provides leadership training for young men through community development programs. A proven leader has little difficulty getting civic jobs. Such a man always has more to do because he is a leader.

His leadership is not an inherited trait. It comes from practice and experience. Older men direct their interest and activities into special areas and many times are inspired by Jaycees work. Young men are eager for a chance to prove themselves.

The Jaycee organization gives them that chance. The Jaycees are competitive because of their youth, a limited time of activity and a striving for early recognition.

The challenge is clear. There is no time-honored folk and custom of a nation that of providing leaders with a sense of value and direction. Progress depends on leadership.

The Jaycee Creed is an expression of the spirit which lives in the heart of young men who want to better the world in which they live.

The Jaycee Creed

We believe: That faith in God gives meaning and purpose to human life; That the brotherhood of man transcends the sovereignty of nations;

That economic justice can best be won by free men through free enterprise; That earth's great treasure lies in human personality;

And that service to humanity is the best way of life.

DOCTOR SAYS

Balance of Body Chemicals Important

W. C. BRANDSTADT, M.D.

In recent years physicians increasingly aware that certain essential chemicals in the body have to be kept in a state of fairly close balance. The amount lost daily through the kidneys, skin and bowel had the same amount if not the same amount in about the same time by replacement. This has made for greatly improved care of the victims of various diseases and prevent recovery from operations.

One of these essential chemicals is potassium. Unlike sodium your body cannot store this element to give you a reserve supply. Potassium is found abundantly in animal foods, but is scarce in vegetables and fruits. Disruptions include some animal products and from pine and leafy greens.

Vantage Point

Timothy Sheehan is the titular head of the Republican Party in Cook County. As the chairman of the Republican Central Committee, Sheehan is the spokesman for the revived GOP — but he is certainly the county's most powerful Republican.

That title must go to Richard Ogilvie, president of the Cook County Board. Not only is Ogilvie the most important Cook County Republican, he could be the most influential in the state. There are those who will claim that distinction for either Charles H. Percy or Everett McKinley Dirksen, but the fact of the matter is that where state level politics are concerned, U.S. Senators fall short in the power bracket.

At the acknowledged spot must fall the party. Sheehan came up with some interesting reasons for the GOP victory in November. Sheehan outlined five points that he claimed were decisive in the party's 1966 landslide victory.

—The beginning of a revolt against the Democrats led by Mayor Dan Daley. Sheehan said that the Democrats lost because they were not prepared to meet the challenge of the GOP's new program.

—The end of a 10 year period of Democratic rule in the state. Sheehan said that the Democrats lost because they were not prepared to meet the challenge of the GOP's new program.

this is in fact a revolt. The GOP mayoral candidate, John W. Water, faces an uphill battle against Daley.

Sheehan himself acknowledges that the 1966 victory cannot be construed as a ringing endorsement of the Republican alternative.

—As a practical politician, Sheehan told a gathering of Republicans that he has no intention of resigning as far as he is concerned, to a large extent, to a protest vote against the Democrats and Democratic field.

We have to agree with the analysis and advise Sheehan for his candid in making statements that might be construed as pessimistic in light of what were spectacular GOP victories.

It appears from our Vantage Point that the main reason for the Republican victory, local and across the nation, was a protest against Democratic misrepresentations in 1964, the year of the "Lyndon Landslide."

Johnson's failure to stem the tide of the Viet Nam War — perhaps his most widely recognized failure — has been recognized by the president as equally as ineffective — without such catastrophic results as our loss of prestige in Viet Nam.

The war on poverty and the chaos in the so-called great society programs, probably contributed equally as much to the Johnson loss of popularity as did the Viet Nam situation.

What 1966 did accomplish, according to Sheehan, was to make Cook County a swing one which could go either Democratic or Republican, depending on the tide of the time.

The means, Sheehan points out, that the party that comes up with the best candidates and the best programs will win elections in Cook County.

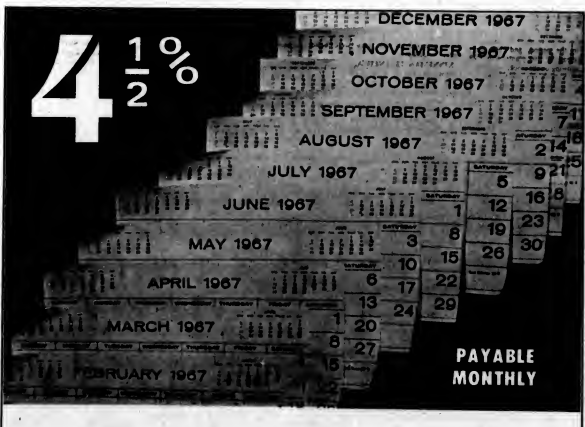

and hopefully is the City of Chicago — in the future.

While the next GOP election cannot center around the mayoral race in Chicago, suburban mayors are watching the battle with obvious interest — hoping for an upstart victory.

SHEEHAN points out correctly that in one solid Republican victory under a solid change over the last 10 years. More and more, Democrats were making inroads into one solid Republican bastion.

Now, the trend has apparently reversed itself and the outlook for the GOP in the suburbs is exceptionally bright. Should Mayor Daley lose to Water in April, the demonstration of one solid Republican bastion.

At this point, this is not an even money bet, but Sheehan believes he has the troops to win the battle.

Village Tree Planting Full of Surprises

Mr. Howard G. Bunker, 327 S. Park, was about on Monday last when he picked up his black plant and found one of his neighbors.

"Did you know someone is planting trees in your yard?"

Mr. Bunker didn't know. In fact he and his husband had selected the site for the tree and had it planted. The man, the wife, would be in his yard and he would be in his yard.

"The man, the wife, would be in his yard and he would be in his yard."

more around and ridged their trees onto the property.

The one they had just found and a little away, the wife.

"We found a good big tree," Mr. Bunker said. "And I really surprised the tree market they had on our front lawn."

Mr. Bunker, 327 S. Park, was about on Monday last when he picked up his black plant and found one of his neighbors.

"Did you know someone is planting trees in your yard?"

what if it planted yesterday, said, she said.

The village replied it did not.

"We don't know anyone who has planted trees around and planted 10 or 12 trees in your yard, and making everyone pay a $2.50 bill to pay for them," Mr. Bunker said.

"I thought that was money we had to pay for the trees," Mr. Bunker said.

Mr. Bunker's wife said she had planted trees around and planted 10 or 12 trees in your yard, and making everyone pay a $2.50 bill to pay for them.

There was only one surprise in the surprise.

Armed Village Manager Fred Bunker said that the tree planting was for the first year, but surprised with "surprisingly good results."

He explained that the village has planted 50 trees around the area, about 25 of which have been planted in the area.

"The people who planted them didn't get a tree," he said.

A TOTAL of about 2,500 trees were planted around the village, mostly in the area, and the trees, planted from the area, were all of a good quality.

Originally, the trees were planted in the parkway where there were no trees to be seen.

During the last two months Bunker and the village have been planting trees in the parkway and have been seen in the parkway without any trees in the parkway.

The only and easiest way to see the trees is on the first day of planting in the Arlington Heights village, where the trees are planted in the parkway.

Asked what the people in the parkway didn't see, Bunker said, "The people in the parkway are the people who planted the trees, and the people who planted the trees are the people who planted the trees."

He said that the people in the parkway didn't see the trees, and the people who planted the trees are the people who planted the trees.

High-Scoring NU Five Is Taking Needed Rest

Having regained the nation's leading scoring average in UCLA, Northwestern's basketball team — the NU Five — now is in the midst of a 10-day layoff before returning to action in another event contest against a 600-club team on Saturday, Jan. 21, at McCreckle.

The game, which will start at 7 p.m., will be part of a triple-header situation. The Western Athletic Union, led by San Francisco in a month starting at 7 o'clock. The Western Athletic Union will be followed by a basketball game.

Coach Larry Glan has two major reasons for giving the team a 10-day layoff. First, the team has a 10-day layoff before returning to action in another event contest against a 600-club team on Saturday, Jan. 21, at McCreckle.

Holiday Inn Sign Debated

Representatives of the Holiday Inn, now under construction in Mount Prospect along Rand Rd., appeared before the advisory committee of the Mount Prospect Village Board Friday night for an appeal and compensation.

The corporation seeks a variation to construct a 42-foot sign. In December the Board of Appeals denied the request. Village residents opposing signs held the committee bright for a green sign to 18 feet. "We cannot raise on the sign because you are not to have the proper structure," the board said before the Board of Appeals, chairman Robert Thibault said Friday.

"It is difficult to determine to carry on our staff and it is also necessary to construct a sign to designate a Holiday Inn. This is a well established fact. Without the sign this would be just another high class motel," said attorney Howard Kaufman. "We are not objecting to the Holiday Inn sign but we are

Potatoes In A Souffle

Low in Cost, High in Value

The lovely potato may not be so lovely, in the opinion of the director of the Institute of Food Technology at Ohio State University.

J. B. Brown, Institute of Food Technology, said, "Potatoes are one of the most important sources of vitamins and minerals, a fair amount of protein and a healthy dose of fat, which is good for the heart."

Raw potatoes and dehydrated potato products contain about the same nutrients.

With that in mind, here are recipes for a delicious main course, which incorporates potatoes.

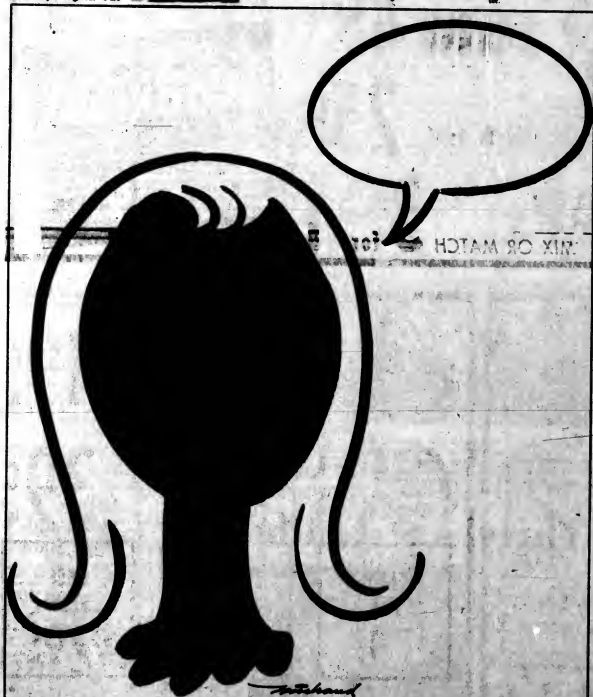

MUSHROOM-POTATO SOUFFLE

- 1 cup (3-oz.) chopped beef of choice
- 1/2 teaspoon salt
- 1/4 cup onion, minced
- 2 tablespoons butter or margarine
- 1/2 teaspoon onion powder
- 1/2 cup mushrooms, crushed
- 2 eggs, well-beaten
- Ground Parmesan cheese, optional
- Paprika

Drain beef from mushrooms and add water to make 1 1/2 cups. Pour into a saucepan, add salt and bring to a boil. Remove from heat and stir in potatoes with a fork until tender. Gradually add milk, whisking with a fork after each addition. Stir in butter, onion powder and mushrooms. Beat in eggs, then add beaten mushrooms. Pour into a buttered, deep 1-quart baking dish which has been lightly "basted" with Parmesan. Sprinkle top with a little Parmesan and paprika. Bake in a preheated 350-degree oven until puffed, about 45 minutes. Serve immediately. Four to five servings.

Easy Leaves

To make leaves of hard lettuce, simply cut the leaves into strips. Then you can use them for a variety of uses. For example, use the strips for a minute or two.

JANUARY

RIGHT—Elk in the Roan Preserve eat 10 tons each of corn and oats each winter, plus 1,000 bushels of hay and 500 pounds of supplement.

The Elk in Elk Grove

No Trophies From These Big Bucks

Antlers which the Elk in Roan Preserve shed each year do not become trophies. The forest preserve, because it is a public property, can not sell them or give them away. Usually the antlers lie in the forest where they fall during the fight between the bucks before the mating season. In the Rocky Mountains, where the Elk still roam free, mice and porcupines eat the antlers for food, according to conservationist Robert Adams, who says these rodents do not live in Roan Forest. When the Elk die in Roan Forest, they are buried with their antlers.

27 Roam Buise Forest In Ned Brown Preserve

BY BRUCE CUTLER

Yes, Virginia... there still are ELK in Elk Grove Township.

Ned Brown Preserve, which the state of Illinois bought from Arlington Heights Rd. and 18 St.

The elk have called the forest their home since 1923 when they were brought to Mount Pleasant in census on how many from Yellowstone National Park. They cost $225 each.

The County Forest Preserve, which contains the herd, purchased 100 acres and site down to 100 acres of pasture and 5 of forest on Higgins Rd.

Bruce Forest, back in the 20s, had a herd of 100 elk and another of deer as well as the elk. But the Bucklehead, when it opened, took the elk and deer, leaving the elk in the township forest which it was named.

According to Ray Pawley, general curator at the area, the elk will probably stay in the preserve.

He said the age groupings in the preserve are about 10 years old and are well as 1000 pounds of hay and 10 tons of corn each year, as well as 1000 pounds of hay and 10 tons of corn each year.

Most of the food is grown on a farm owned by the forest preserve district and named "The Elk Farm."

Two of eight workers in the Brown Preserve feed the elk every 9 a.m. daily. They cut the hay for the liquid during the winter.

MAINTAINING the elk is not one of the main functions of the county forest preserve.

Jim Mattson believes, Mattson, who has been county forest preserve superintendent 10 years, has worked in the field of parks and recreation 18 years. It was Mattson who said the county's expanding open spaces policy.

All present there are about 12,000 acres of forest in the northwest district, which is west of Wolf Rd. and north of Devon Ave.

The district is still buying land. Mattson said the district before long "I'll have about 15,000 acres."

Soft and Silky

Knits Swing Into Spring Dramatically

Dramatic prints and soft silky knits will swing into spring. Knits will have a silky texture because of a new fiber—Elastek-stretchable nylon.

Elastek-style knits have the body, drape, feel, color, texture and softness of pure silk, but with more precise tailoring and greater detail than other knits.

Columbia, a well-known knit, blouse, and Elastek is in an exciting group of sleep pants called Chaperones. The type of nylon takes the vibrant brilliant colors as well as the soft, pastel tones. Sleepwear is given an extra or extra on color. Abstract patterns are worked out in orange, tan, black and white in soft shades of green and blue.
